

LOCALS

THURSDAY.

George Gilbert was in today from Rock Prairie.

W. P. Bullock was in today from Steep Hollow.

Commissioner P. H. Arrington was up today from Millican.

W. D. Stallings was in today from Tabor and went to Houston.

Mrs. H. P. Lemon went to Palestine today to visit her mother.

Miss Irma Royder, of Wellborn, was a visitor to the city today.

Miss Frankie Armstrong came down from Hearne this afternoon.

Mrs. Byron Simpson and Miss Erin Simpson returned to Millican this afternoon.

J. P. Royder, of Wellborn, was looking after business matters in this city today.

Say! If you want your carpenter's work quickly and neatly done, give J. H. Gammon a whack at it.

FRIDAY.

Tom Gallatin was in today from Tabor.

Rabb Higge, of Rye, was in the city today.

A. H. Eaves came up from Wellborn today.

Henry Koontz was down today from Zack.

M. S. Freeman was in today from Harvey.

W. W. Smith, of Fountain, was in town today.

J. L. Byars was in the city today from Reliance.

W. T. Conaway, of Independence, was in town today.

T. M. Ewing was in today from his farm in the bottom.

Sam Luther, of Leonard school house, was in town today.

Mills Josey was down today from his home near Benchley.

Frank and Bob Goodson were in the city today from the bottom.

Ira Bond and Joe Reel, of Prospect, were in the city this afternoon.

Mrs. J. L. Hensarling was a visitor to the city today from Wellborn.

Clarence Skains was in the city today from his home near Kurten.

George P. Edge, merchandising at Harris school house, was in the city today.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Leonard, Sr., were in the city today from the Leonard school community.

We take stock on the 20th, and had rather count the cash than the goods.

Eugene Edge on the corner.

C. S. Jones, senior member of the firm of Bullock & Jones, of Harvey, was looking after business matters in the city today.

Dr. Geo. B. Butler, of Austin, is here attending the Worker's Institute at the First Baptist church. His many friends are glad to see him again.

Mr. W. L. Edge, of Cottonwood, and daughters, Misses Ella and Della Edge, and grand daughter, Miss Euna Drummond, returned today from Americus, Georgia, where they spent the holidays with relatives.

John N. Nunn is installing a bowling alley in the Dunn & Daly building upstairs over Holme Bros. It will be a very fine alley and comes a ready put together. Contractor C. E. Jenkins is installing it.

SATURDAY

J. A. Murray was in today from Reliance.

J. M. Olsen was in today from Steep Hollow.

C. A. Robinson, of near Wellborn, was in town today.

Uncle Ike Holligan was in today from Holligan Chapel.

W. H. Boyett was in the city today from his home near Tabor.

W. D. Stallings, of Tabor, returned today from a visit to Houston.

John Slaughter and Marshal Jones were in today from Reliance.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Jones, of Steep Hollow, were in the city today.

L. M. Davis was over today from Iowa trading with Bryan merchants.

N. A. Cotnam and Prof. D. R. Cook, were in the city today from Harvey.

John Battle and L. L. Dixon, of Al-lenfarm, were visitors to the city today.

L. M. Haltom, a prominent farmer of the Benchley community, was in the city today.

Miss Robbie Seale returned to Benchley today after a visit to Miss Corine James.

Misses Kate Eaves and Bertha Eaves, of Wellborn, were visitors to the city today.

Uncle Mark Wilcox was in the city today and paid the Eagle office a pleasant call.

Mrs. R. M. Nail was called to Houston today by the serious illness of Mrs. W. H. Nail.

J. R. Collier returned to Waco today after attending the Baptist Workers Institute in this city.

Dr. L. W. Jones, of Harvey, returned to Fort Worth today where he is attending medical college.

Mrs. J. M. Mike returned to Cameron today after visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Darwin, in this city.

Lost, Strayed or Stolen: Deep red cow and yearling from J. W. Skain's pasture on Wilcox. Cow branded S on right side. Reward for information leading to recovery. J. D. Conway, Jr., Bryan, Texas, R. F. D. No. 2.

Evangelist S. W. Kendrick and Mrs. Kendrick came in from Houston on the early morning train, where they have been attending a B. Y. P. U. Sunday school and missionary rally at the First Baptist church. The Baptist churches over the city and over the association were represented. Rev. Kendrick delivered four addresses, one on missions and three on Soul Winning.

Since the new officials took charge of the mine near Calvert, seventy-two out of eighty-seven of the convicts employed there have petitioned the governor to let them remain there.

President Madriz exonerates Yelaya but says others will be tried for the execution of Groce and Cannon.

A quantity of dynamite was exploded under a house in Dallas, occupied by Italians. The front was wrecked, but the inmates, numbering about twenty, were all in the rear and were uninjured.

An effort will be made to raise this year an endowment fund of $500,000 for Baylor University of Waco.

Three persons were killed and another fatally injured in a collision in the freight yards of the K. C. S. at Shreveport.

Many prominent Republican leaders are taking the part of Pinchot as against Ballinger.

Governor Campbell denies story of negotiations to lease Rusk iron works to John L. Wortham.

All the large cities of Texas have more saloons than the law allows and the number will have to be reduced.

President Taft has by executive order removed Chief Forester Pinchot from office because of his charges against Secretary Ballinger.

The British battleship Scyllia has been into the Central American imbroglio, prohibiting any fighting at Greytown.

Freshets on the Isthmus interfere with work on the Panama canal.

Yellow fever and bubonic plague are epidemic at Guayaquil, Ecuador, and residents of Panama are uneasy lest the plagues be communicated to the Isthmus.

Twenty midshipmen at Annapolis have been suspended for clandestine smoking cigarettes, but friends, including some congressmen, are working for their reinstatement.

In balloting to nominate United States Senator from Mississippi ex-Governor Vardaman lacked 15 votes of the necessary majority.

Gen. Madriz, Zeyala's successor as president of Nicaragua, says the execution of Groce and Cannon by his predecessor was illegal.

A Milam county farmer has brought suit against a Cameron merchant and a Dallas seed house for damage because they sold him turnip seed when he thought he was buying rape seed, which he wanted for winter pasture for hogs.

The president's message dealing with interstate commerce and national chartering of corporations made favorable impression on congress.

A reaction in the New York cotton market brought the price up $3.25 a bale.

P. B. Jones, a former citizen of Waco, suicided after killing his 5-year-old son at Nashville, Tenn.

A fire at Thomaston, Tex., destroyed property worth $14,000.

The census of democrats in the Mississippi legislature failed to nominate a candidate for United States Senator yesterday, postponing action till today.

Many people, both Americans and Mexicans, are assembled at Del Rio to witness the meeting of the governors of Texas and Coahuila today. A three days' program has been arranged in celebration of the event.

A Mexican shovelling cotton seed hulls in a warehouse at San Antonio was smothered under several tons of the hulls which caved in and caught him under them. The dead body was dug out by his fellow laborers.

Twenty-five Bulgarian farm laborers who arrived at Galveston classed as homeseekers but were without money, were ordered to be deported. The steamship company bringing them has appeared the case and is housing and feeding them at its own expense pending a decision.

Charles Whidden, a conductor on a Santa Fe freight train, was shot to death in his caboose. Cecil Keeble, a clerk in a Santa Fe storeroom at Temple, is in jail at Brownwood, where the tragedy occurred, awaiting the action of the grand jury, which is in session.

Self Possessed. Mrs. Manykida—There is one thing about our girls—they are always self possessed. Papa Manykida (grimly)—Yes, they're too self possessed. I wish they'd get some one else to possess them.

Liast's Advice. Being asked one day what one should do in order to become an efficient piabo player, Liast replied laconically, "One must eat well and walk much."

Seven Rules of Life. Live upstairs if you wish to be in good health. "Up how many flights?" Only one flight of seven steps. I will describe them.

First Step.—Eat wheat, oats, corn, fruits, beef, mutton, plainly cooked, in moderate quantity and but two meals a day.

Second Step.—Breathe good air day and night.

Third Step.—Exercise freely in the open air.

Fourth Step.—Retire early and rise early.

Fifth Step.—Wear flannel next your skin every day of the year and so dispose your dress that your limbs may be kept warm. Bathe frequently.

Sixth Step.—Live in the sunshine. Let your bedroom be one which receives a flood of light and spend your days either out in the sunlight or in a room which is well lighted.

Seventh Step.—Cultivate a cheerful temper. Seek the society of jolly people. Absolutely refuse to worry and, above all, don't be afraid to laugh. Live above. Sickness cannot crawl up there. Disease prowls about in the basement. Rarely does it get upstairs. —Dr. F. G. Butler in Chicago Journal.

The Shade He Wanted. Delacroix, the painter, was walking out one day in Paris with a friend of his when he fell into a brown study.

"What is up with you now?" said the friend.

"I can't get a certain shade of yellow," replied the artist.

"What sort of yellow?"

"Just then a cab drove past.

"The very thing!" the painter gasped out. "Stop, stop!"

"I am engaged," the cabby replied without stopping.

Delacroix started in pursuit and at a steep place in the Rue des Martyrs overtook the cab. Opening the door, he said in tones of entreaty to the passenger inside:

"Do please tell your driver to stop. I want your complexion for a painting on which I am at work. There is a color merchant close at hand. I shall not detain you above five minutes, and in acknowledgment of the service you render me I will present you with a sketch of my picture."

The bargain was struck. Delacroix got his yellow, and a few months later the "fare" received a sketch of his "Assassination of the Archbishop of Liege."

Truth in Jest. According to historical tradition, the conquest of Finland was foretold in jest that soon became earnest by its conqueror, Peter the Great, to his jester, Balakireff.

Balakireff had vexed the czar by too impudent a joke and had been summarily banished with the menacing injunction never to appear on Russian soil again. He disappeared discreetly, but one day not long after Peter, glancing out of a window, saw his unmistakable figure and quizzical countenance jogging comfortably by, perched in a country cart. Impulsively he ran down to him and demanded to know why he had disobeyed.

"I haven't disobeyed you," was the answer. "I am not on Russian soil now."

"Not on Russian soil?"

"No. This cart load of earth that I'm sitting on is Swedish soil. I dug it in Finland only the other day."

Peter laughed, but he said, "If Finland be Swedish soil now, it shall be Russian soil before long!" And he made good his words.

His Examination Concluded. In the evidence before a parliamentary committee concerning the opposition to a railway Hodge scored a point which accentuates a certain legal fiction with reference to skilled witnesses.

A Scotch farmer was giving his testimony in favor of the bill.

"Is it true," said the wily K. C. in his most searching style, "that you, sir, said to Mr. Guild that you were willing to give your evidence on the other side if they would pay you better?"

"Aye," said the pawky farmer, "and" (after a pause) "let me jist pit the same question to ye—if ye had been offered a bigger fee, wad ye no have been on th'ither side yerse?"

It is needless to say that the K. C. did not cross question the witness further. —Pearson's Weekly.

Pipes Frozen by Warm Spells. It is a curious fact that water pipes under ground will often freeze during the warm spell that follows a cold snap. The explanation made for this interesting phenomenon is that after a cold wave a large quantity of heat is taken from the ground in the work of changing the frozen moisture into water, and thus, on the principle of the ice cream freezer, the pipe is chilled, enough heat being taken from it to freeze it.

Cause For Thanks. "Alas!" sighed the tramp dramatically. "No matter where I turn, there's a hand raised against me."

"Which shows you ought to be thankful fer one thing," said the farmer.

"What's that?"

"That it ain't a foot that's raised."

THE NEWS IN BRIEF

Events of the World Boiled Down for the Busy Man to Read at a Glance.

The roll of students in the State University contains 2493 names.

The Harris county commissioners have again taken up the matter of establishing a farm for unruly boys.

T. B. Kimbler, a farmer in Runnels county, killed his wife, son and daughter, attempted to kill his niece, and then suicided.

The clans of Texas corn-growers are gathering in Dallas this week.

The number of saloons in Texas is estimated at 3,600.

Boston will make the experiment of non-partisan city government.

It has been discovered that a St. Louis rapist, who was recently buried in the Potter's Field, left a fortune of $60,000.

Since the new officials took charge of the mine near Calvert, seventy-two out of eighty-seven of the convicts employed there have petitioned the governor to let them remain there.

President Madriz exonerates Yelaya but says others will be tried for the execution of Groce and Cannon.

A quantity of dynamite was exploded under a house in Dallas, occupied by Italians. The front was wrecked, but the inmates, numbering about twenty, were all in the rear and were uninjured.

An effort will be made to raise this year an endowment fund of $500,000 for Baylor University of Waco.

Three persons were killed and another fatally injured in a collision in the freight yards of the K. C. S. at Shreveport.

Many prominent Republican leaders are taking the part of Pinchot as against Ballinger.

Governor Campbell denies story of negotiations to lease Rusk iron works to John L. Wortham.

All the large cities of Texas have more saloons than the law allows and the number will have to be reduced.

President Taft has by executive order removed Chief Forester Pinchot from office because of his charges against Secretary Ballinger.

The British battleship Scyllia has been into the Central American imbroglio, prohibiting any fighting at Greytown.

Freshets on the Isthmus interfere with work on the Panama canal.

Yellow fever and bubonic plague are epidemic at Guayaquil, Ecuador, and residents of Panama are uneasy lest the plagues be communicated to the Isthmus.

Twenty midshipmen at Annapolis have been suspended for clandestine smoking cigarettes, but friends, including some congressmen, are working for their reinstatement.

In balloting to nominate United States Senator from Mississippi ex-Governor Vardaman lacked 15 votes of the necessary majority.

Gen. Madriz, Zeyala's successor as president of Nicaragua, says the execution of Groce and Cannon by his predecessor was illegal.

A Milam county farmer has brought suit against a Cameron merchant and a Dallas seed house for damage because they sold him turnip seed when he thought he was buying rape seed, which he wanted for winter pasture for hogs.

The president's message dealing with interstate commerce and national chartering of corporations made favorable impression on congress.

A reaction in the New York cotton market brought the price up $3.25 a bale.

P. B. Jones, a former citizen of Waco, suicided after killing his 5-year-old son at Nashville, Tenn.

A fire at Thomaston, Tex., destroyed property worth $14,000.

The census of democrats in the Mississippi legislature failed to nominate a candidate for United States Senator yesterday, postponing action till today.

Many people, both Americans and Mexicans, are assembled at Del Rio to witness the meeting of the governors of Texas and Coahuila today. A three days' program has been arranged in celebration of the event.

A Mexican shovelling cotton seed hulls in a warehouse at San Antonio was smothered under several tons of the hulls which caved in and caught him under them. The dead body was dug out by his fellow laborers.

Twenty-five Bulgarian farm laborers who arrived at Galveston classed as homeseekers but were without money, were ordered to be deported. The steamship company bringing them has appeared the case and is housing and feeding them at its own expense pending a decision.

Charles Whidden, a conductor on a Santa Fe freight train, was shot to death in his caboose. Cecil Keeble, a clerk in a Santa Fe storeroom at Temple, is in jail at Brownwood, where the tragedy occurred, awaiting the action of the grand jury, which is in session.

Self Possessed. Mrs. Manykida—There is one thing about our girls—they are always self possessed. Papa Manykida (grimly)—Yes, they're too self possessed. I wish they'd get some one else to possess them.

Liast's Advice. Being asked one day what one should do in order to become an efficient piabo player, Liast replied laconically, "One must eat well and walk much."

Seven Rules of Life. Live upstairs if you wish to be in good health. "Up how many flights?" Only one flight of seven steps. I will describe them.

First Step.—Eat wheat, oats, corn, fruits, beef, mutton, plainly cooked, in moderate quantity and but two meals a day.

Second Step.—Breathe good air day and night.

Third Step.—Exercise freely in the open air.

Fourth Step.—Retire early and rise early.

Fifth Step.—Wear flannel next your skin every day of the year and so dispose your dress that your limbs may be kept warm. Bathe frequently.

Sixth Step.—Live in the sunshine. Let your bedroom be one which receives a flood of light and spend your days either out in the sunlight or in a room which is well lighted.

Seventh Step.—Cultivate a cheerful temper. Seek the society of jolly people. Absolutely refuse to worry and, above all, don't be afraid to laugh. Live above. Sickness cannot crawl up there. Disease prowls about in the basement. Rarely does it get upstairs. —Dr. F. G. Butler in Chicago Journal.

The Shade He Wanted. Delacroix, the painter, was walking out one day in Paris with a friend of his when he fell into a brown study.

"What is up with you now?" said the friend.

"I can't get a certain shade of yellow," replied the artist.

"What sort of yellow?"

"Just then a cab drove past.

"The very thing!" the painter gasped out. "Stop, stop!"

"I am engaged," the cabby replied without stopping.

Delacroix started in pursuit and at a steep place in the Rue des Martyrs overtook the cab. Opening the door, he said in tones of entreaty to the passenger inside:

"Do please tell your driver to stop. I want your complexion for a painting on which I am at work. There is a color merchant close at hand. I shall not detain you above five minutes, and in acknowledgment of the service you render me I will present you with a sketch of my picture."

The bargain was struck. Delacroix got his yellow, and a few months later the "fare" received a sketch of his "Assassination of the Archbishop of Liege."

Truth in Jest. According to historical tradition, the conquest of Finland was foretold in jest that soon became earnest by its conqueror, Peter the Great, to his jester, Balakireff.

Balakireff had vexed the czar by too impudent a joke and had been summarily banished with the menacing injunction never to appear on Russian soil again. He disappeared discreetly, but one day not long after Peter, glancing out of a window, saw his unmistakable figure and quizzical countenance jogging comfortably by, perched in a country cart. Impulsively he ran down to him and demanded to know why he had disobeyed.

"I haven't disobeyed you," was the answer. "I am not on Russian soil now."

"Not on Russian soil?"

"No. This cart load of earth that I'm sitting on is Swedish soil. I dug it in Finland only the other day."

Peter laughed, but he said, "If Finland be Swedish soil now, it shall be Russian soil before long!" And he made good his words.

We Thank You

for the very Liberal Patronage given us in 1909

And can assure you we will make it to your interest to

Do Your

TRADING

HERE

IN

1910

No Trouble will be spared

to make this Saloon the most popular in the city

Wishing you all a

Happy New Year

We are Resp't.

Dunn & Daly

The Old Reliable Liquor Dealers